- Kevin Kern, President and CEO, Innotas

Integration driving business agility and transparency

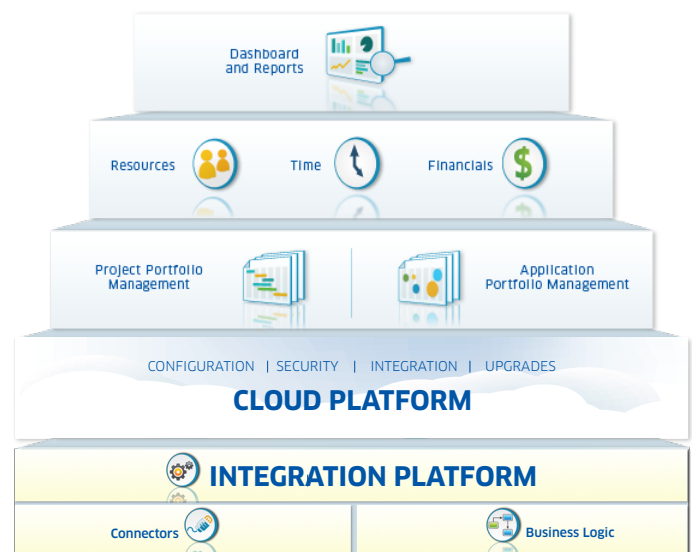

In an increasingly complex IT world of projects, resources, and applications, integrating your IT and business systems with your IT Governance and PPM solution becomes a critical success factor to efficiently manage your IT portfolio and provide visibility across all your projects, resources, and applications.

Traditional approaches to integrate business systems with your IT portfolio management solution were time-consuming, costly, and error-prone. Integrations had to be built one by one using complex custom code and expensive middleware, maybe even additional hardware.
